Jan Sawka retrospective in High Falls

Posted on November 16th, 2001 @ 11:31 pm

Imagine a retrospective art exhibition that included not only an artist’s usual works, but also the people who have been influenced by him. If that were possible, you’d see a piece as big as his homeland France to be the work of Jan Sawka, and in turn this year’s event to extend from the 19th to the 21st century.

A show of such scope and scale is impossible. But Sawka’s work and the many others that have been influenced by him can be seen in the retrospective exhibition, which runs through Jan 19.

The show is called “Meditations on Landscapes,” and it is sponsored by the High Falls Art Center. The show will also be on display at the city’s Breakwater Park in the same month.

The show is divided into three parts, each focusing on a different aspect of Sawka’s work. The first part is a collection of his landscapes, which have been influenced by his homeland and other countries. The second part is a collection of his still lifes, which have been influenced by his homeland and other countries. The third part is a collection of his portraits, which have been influenced by his homeland and other countries.

The show is open to the public and free to attend. The High Falls Art Center is located at 120 High Falls Road, and the Breakwater Park is located at 100 Breakwater Road.

The show is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The High Falls Art Center is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Breakwater Park is open daily from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.
